The Potter Hill team also will bring Foley, who will be remembered as the star catcher of the Westerly High school ball team of a few years ago, and who has made his mark in the Colonial league. FOOTBALL SCOUT HAS PLAYERS FOR SATURDAY. BEEN RE-ENGAGED Crimson's Spy Has Done Good Ser Taftville Has High Hopes in the Race

The Taftville soccer football club at a meeting Thursday decided on the following men for the game Saturday at Baltic: H. Finlayson, E. Dutton, Capt. D. Desjardin, W. White, F. Knowles, F. Greenhalgh, R. Pilling, A. Finlayson, W. Wilson, J. Blanchette, J. Greenhalgh, and the following reserves: B. Pilling, E. Greenhalgh and W. Mathers. Graduate Treasurer Fred W. Moore of the Harvard Athletic Association has completed a contract with Reginald W. P. Brown '98, to continue as the Crimson's football strategic head the Crimson's football strategic head. For many years Brown has followed the play of the Yale team and his analysis and advice have been invaluable to Harvard when the time has come to prepare for the New Haven Berves: B. Pilling, E. Greenhalgh and W. Mathers.

The team this year is unusually strong and has high hopes of making a good showing both for The Builetin and state cups. The promoters of the club are working earnestly for the establishment of the game in the local schools and are trying to have the young men of this vicinity become interested, as more teams can be organized, thus forming a big league of eight or more teams. The team leaves Saturday afternoon for Baltic on the 2.12

Last year several college teams tried hard to secure Brown's ser-vices as coach, but Harvard would take no chances of allowing him to go. Under the terms of his contract take no chances of allowing him to go. Under the terms of his contract Brown will have charge of the Harvard scouting and strategy and will also go to Cambridge to do much coaching as he thinks necessary. While he will doubtless spend most of his Saturday afternoons watching Yale, as he has done for at least six years, he will supervise all of the Crimson's scouting. There have been many instances in which Harvard's successes have been much influenced by the Crimson's preparedness to meet Yale's style of play and to work out its own attack against eleven. None, however, was more emphatic than in 1913, when because of Brown's power of observation and analysis Harvard was more than able to cope with the cross-bucking systo cope with the cross-bucking system of a superior rush line. In addition to his strategic work Brown will do a little special coaching, this mainly in accordance with his ideas regarding the Crimson's defensive and strategic plans.

AND MAP OF STAGES OF GERMANY'S RETREAT.

Not long ago the German forces had passed by Paris within twenty-five miles to the east, had penetrated to a point thirty miles south of the Marne and threatened to divide the British and left wing of the French army from its center and right. Re-enforcements of the British left and a concentration of troops in the French left and center has brought about the retreat of the Germans from their extreme advance. Their right, under Von Kluck, is now reported falling back on Rheims, the commands of Von Buelow and Von Hausen are over the Marne, moving northward, the troops of Duke Albrecht of Wurttemberg and those of the crown prince are withdrawing from the forest of Argonne. Vitry, which was the crowning point of the German advance, has been evacuated, and the only position where the German line is holding is at the center, at the fortress of Verdun, which is under siege. under siege.

CURIO FOUND IN TELEPHONE REPAIR WORK John Carney Ran Across Wire That

Lost in Weight in Electric Storm. If you picked up a 100 foot distributing loop of No. 14 twisted pair that should weigh 15 pounds and found that it tipped the scales at but two pounds, what would you think? What-ever your answer is, that was the dis-covery of John Carney, a Norwich trouble man, after a recent electric

Mr. Carney found the loop on the ground, ripped almost its entire length, as cleanly as if it had been done with a knife. Moreover, there was hardly a trace of the copper the entire length of the loop, says the Telephone Bulletin.

On Aug. 31 there were 3,069 telephones in Norwich, 3,579 in New London, and 1,358 telephones in Putnam. There is a gain of 763 phones in the Norwich district since the last report. Norwich district since the last report.
